INTRODUCTION
This Accreditation Manual is designed to communicate the expectations for accreditation that have been established by the Accreditation Commission of the Transnational Association of Christian Colleges and Schools (TRACS). These expectations, which are listed under sixteen Accreditation Requirements and under specific Federal Requirements, will serve to guide institutions in accreditation processes.

The manual applies to institutions seeking Candidate (Pre-Accredited) status, Accredited status and Reaffirmation of Accredited status. Questions regarding the accreditation process should be directed to the TRACS office.

The Accreditation Requirements and their associated Standards may be modified by the TRACS Accreditation Commission, but only after opportunities for comment on any proposed changes have been provided to all parties and institutions significantly affected.

Purpose
The principal purpose of TRACS is to provide accreditation for Christian postsecondary institutions that offer a Certificate, Diploma, or Degree (Associate, Baccalaureate, Graduate or Post-Graduate) at both the Candidate and Accredited level. Such recognition ensures the institution’s academic quality, financial stability, and student support services and allows the institution and their students the benefits of participating in federally funded programs as appropriate.

TRACS is a voluntary, non-profit, self-governing organization of Christian postsecondary institutions. TRACS is recognized as a national institutional accrediting agency by the U.S. Department of Education (ED) and is a member of the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA).

TRACS was established by a group of educators in 1979, the purpose of which was to promote the welfare, interests, and development of quality Christian postsecondary institutions whose mission is characterized by a distinctively Christian orientation. While TRACS encourages each affiliated institution to develop its own distinctives, TRACS expects institutions to provide quality postsecondary education within the context of a Christian worldview, with emphasis on high academic standards, integrity, practical application, and spiritual development.

The TRACS Accreditation Commission is solely responsible to carry out all accreditation activities and has final authority regarding all accreditation actions. The TRACS Accreditation Commission formulates and implements all policies, procedures, and Standards utilized in the evaluation and accreditation processes.

Objectives
- To foster excellence and quality in Christian postsecondary education through the development of policies, procedures, and Standards for assessing educational effectiveness leading to enhanced educational quality
- To ensure the consistent application of Accreditation Requirements, applicable Federal Requirements, and the Standards associated with each
- To develop an accreditation process that requires continuous institutional self-study, assessment, and self-improvement
• To serve as an accrediting agency that recognizes institutions demonstrating quality through compliance with the Accreditation Requirements and applicable Federal Requirements at the Candidate or Accredited level
• To provide guidance and assistance to both established and developing institutions
• To provide Candidate and Accredited institutions the opportunity to participate in federal programs authorized under Title IV and other government programs as applicable
• To assure the educational community, the general public, and other agencies or organizations that an institution evaluated by TRACS 1) has clearly defined and appropriate educational objectives and outcomes, 2) has established conditions under which educational outcomes are being achieved at an acceptable level with reference to the Accreditation Requirements and applicable Federal Requirements, and 3) is so organized, staffed and supported that it can be expected to continue to offer quality education in the foreseeable future
• To establish and encourage cooperative relationships among its institutions that promote common interests both nationally and internationally

The Role and Value of Accreditation
In the United States, accreditation is voluntarily sought by institutions and is conferred by independent, autonomous bodies. Voluntary, non-governmental, institutional accreditation, as practiced by TRACS and other recognized accrediting agencies, is uniquely characteristic of American education. In other countries, the development, maintenance, control, and supervision of educational standards is often a governmental function.

Principal concerns of accreditation are the improvement of educational quality and the assurance to the public that affiliated institutions meet established expectations. While no institution in the United States is required to seek accreditation, the benefits leading to both self-improvement and self-enhancement provide sufficient motivation for most institutions to do so. Other recognized advantages include reciprocity in the transfer of credit from one accredited institution to another. In addition, a contributing factor in accreditation for many institutions is the fact that governmental and other agencies rely on Candidate or Accredited status with a recognized accrediting agency as a qualification for participation in certain financial aid programs.

For purposes of determining eligibility for federal government assistance under certain legislation, the United States Department of Education (ED) is required to publish a list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies that it determines to be reliable authorities as to the quality of training offered by educational institutions after initial recognition. Criteria for recognition and guidelines have been established by the U.S. Secretary of Education to be used in recognition of accrediting agencies.

The approval process of all recognized accrediting agencies follows a common pattern. Standards and procedures, to be followed in the accreditation process, are developed by those involved in the work of an accrediting agency and are used in evaluating an institution to determine its educational effectiveness in fulfilling its stated mission. TRACS has established Accreditation Requirements and associated Standards which are designed to guide institutions through all stages of accreditation from initial application through reaffirmation as a result of an institutional self-study process. The process requires a self-study by the institution, followed by an on-site Evaluation Team Visit by peer evaluators, and a subsequent review and decision by the TRACS Accreditation Commission. The basic purpose of the accrediting agencies, including TRACS, is to attest to the fact that an institution is achieving its stated goals and objectives and is meeting the Standards established by that agency, as well as applicable Federal Requirements.

TRACS has established a review schedule for Accreditation Requirements, Standards, policies, and procedures under the guidance of a Standards Review Committee. After such review, appropriate changes are made in the light of ensuing recommendations, but only after an opportunity for comments on any proposed change have been provided to all parties significantly affected. Recommendations for improvements in the Standards, policies, and procedures are encouraged and welcomed by the TRACS Accreditation Commission.

Scope

Institutional Categories: TRACS serves Christian postsecondary institutions at both the Candidate and Accredited level. TRACS accredits the institution as a whole, and as such, accreditation processes concern all aspects of the institution.

Institutions are classified according to the degree programs offered. The following is the official classification for TRACS institutions:

- Category I  Institutions offering Certificates, Diplomas, and Associate degrees
- Category II  Institutions offering Bachelor’s degrees
- Category III  Institutions offering Master’s degrees
- Category IV  Institutions offering Specialist’s degrees and Doctorate degrees

Institutions will be listed by the category approved by the TRACS Accreditation Commission.

Institutions that are initially awarded Candidate status by the Accreditation Commission at specific categories (I, II, III, and IV) may only move to another category by filing for a Substantive Change and by being approved by the Accreditation Commission to operate at a different level.

Geographical Territory: The geographic territory of TRACS currently consists of the United States and its territories, plus other locations as determined by the TRACS Accreditation Commission. Accreditation expectations are applied consistently to all institutions, regardless of the geographical location of the institution.

EXPECTATIONS FOR ACCREDITATION

Institutions that have submitted an application for membership with the Transnational Association of Christian Colleges and Schools (TRACS) are considered affiliates, but not members, of TRACS. An approved Applicant is an institution whose application has been approved by the Application Review Committee.

In order for an Applicant institution to obtain Candidate status with TRACS, the institution is required to demonstrate compliance with the established Institutional Eligibility Requirements (IERs). IERs are noted as specific Standards within each Accreditation Requirement and specified Federal Requirements. IERs are noted in bold print. Candidate institutions must demonstrate compliance with all of the Accreditation Requirements and with all applicable Federal Requirements within five years of being granted Candidate status. (See the TRACS definition of Institutional Eligibility Requirements.)

Accredited institutions are required to maintain and demonstrate compliance with all of the Accreditation Requirements and with all applicable Federal Requirements. Accredited institutions found to be in non-compliance with Accreditation Requirements or applicable Federal Requirements must bring such areas of deficiency into compliance within the timeframe prescribed by the TRACS Accreditation Commission.

Specific information regarding the processes involved in the various stages of TRACS accreditation can be found in the TRACS publication, “Steps Toward Accreditation”.

The TRACS Accreditation Requirements and noted Federal Requirements which comprise the Expectations for Accreditation apply equally to all institutions seeking and/or holding membership with TRACS regardless of the methodology of course delivery (face-to-face, Distance Education, and/or hybrid modalities).

I. Accreditation Requirements

   The Accreditation Requirements are divided into sixteen categories:

1. Faith Statement
2. Mission and Name
3. Institutional Objectives
4. Institutional Integrity
5. Operational Authority
6. Organizational Structure
7. Publications and Policies
8. Educational Programs
9. Faculty
10. Student Services
11. Financial Operations
12. Institutional Assessment
13. Strategic Planning
14. Library and Learning Resources
15. Facilities and Equipment
16. Health and Security
1. Faith Statement
The Faith Statement of an institution defines its Christian nature by affirming those primary doctrinal matters that are held by the institution. Institutions are not required to duplicate the TRACS Biblical Foundations Statement, but the institution’s Faith Statement should identify it as part of the evangelical protestant tradition in higher education. It is to be written so as to conform to the historic creeds and statements of Christianity, and thus reflect a careful and precise theological statement, but also accurately state the current position of the institution as set forth by the institution’s Board and administration. In addition, it should be written lucidly in order to inform prospective students, faculty, administrators, and Board members, as well as external constituencies, regarding the religious identity of the institution.

1.1 The institution has a Faith Statement which is readily available and included in appropriate official publications. (IER)

1.2 The institution’s Board approves and periodically reviews the institution’s Faith Statement.

2. Mission and Name
The institution’s mission is appropriate to Christian higher education, is consistent with its charter or other operating authority, and is implemented in a manner that complies with accreditation expectations. The institution’s mission gives direction to its activities and provides a basis for the assessment and enhancement of the institution’s effectiveness. The mission sets forth the specific educational role of the institution with regard to its intended audience.

The name of the institution is accurate, descriptive, and appropriate for its stated purpose. The use of "institute," "college," "university," "seminary," "theological school," "graduate school," et al., is in keeping with the general and national use of such nomenclature (and appropriate to the programs approved by TRACS) in order to enable a consumer to correctly understand the scope and nature of the institution.

2.1 The institution has a Mission Statement which is current and comprehensive, an accurate guide for the institution’s operations, approved and periodically reviewed by the institution’s Board, communicated to the institution’s constituencies, and accurately reflective of its Faith Statement. If a governmental requirement conflicts with a TRACS Standard, the institution will be deemed in compliance with the TRACS Standard as long as it is in compliance with the governmental requirement. (IER)

5.2 If the institution offers courses and/or programs via Distance Education, the institution has legal authorization to offer such courses and/or programs in the locations wherever the Distance Education student declares his/her residency. Further, the institution’s Distance Education offerings meet all applicable TRACS Accreditation and Federal Requirements. (IER)

- Faculty
- Student Services
- Financial Operations
- Institutional Assessment
- Strategic Planning
- Library and Learning Resources
- Facilities and Equipment
- Federal Requirements (as applicable)

Other areas of Distance Education review may be considered and evaluated as deemed appropriate.

6. Organizational Structure
The institution has a system of governance that facilitates the accomplishment of its mission and objectives and supports institutional effectiveness and integrity. Through its organizational structure, the institution creates and sustains an environment that encourages teaching, learning, service, scholarship, and, where appropriate, research activity. Such governance assures provision of support adequate for the appropriate functioning of each organizational component. The institution has sufficient independence from any external entity, such that it is solely accountable for meeting accreditation requirements.

6.2 The institution’s Board appoints and periodically evaluates a full-time Chief Executive Officer (CEO) who is not the Chair of the institution’s Board or a Chair of any of its sub-committees, and who is granted the legal authority to fulfill the tasks defined in the written job description for this position as the individual responsible for carrying out published Board policies and procedures. (IER)

6.3 A full-time Chief Academic Officer (CAO) is in place who has the credentials, experience, and competence to lead the institution’s educational programs toward quality outcomes and the CAO is periodically evaluated. (IER)
